

Short Bio:

Max Maass completed his PhD as part of the RTG 2050 in the Secure Mobile Networking Lab. His research was focused on understanding the state of online security, identifying common problems, and motivating system operators to remediate them.